

Objective:

Plan the most interesting, educational, fun, and creative field trip corresponding to the material we covered in the first semester this year. Let's pretend that I won the lottery, so travel is covered, and travel time is not an issue.

Requirements:

1. The field trip must include at least 8 separate locations (cities, regions, etc.) that had significance to what we studied this semester.
2. For each location, you must do the following:
 - a. Explain its historical significance.
 - b. Highlight several things that can be seen/done there.
 - c. Provide pictures, descriptions, etc. for each.
3. In addition, for 4 of the 8 locations, you must do the following:
 - a. Provide a map of the area.
 - b. Locate a historical building in which we can sleep -- describe it and its historical significance.
 - c. Give a brief biography of a famous American either from the location or whose significance is tied to the location.
4. In addition, for 2 of the 8 locations, you must do the following:
 - a. Identify a local fixture (restaurant, church, theatre, etc.) that was open during the time we studied that is still around today and we can go visit.

Format:

Any format will be accepted. Any additions you wish to make to the above requirements will be accepted. Spelling, grammar, and level of effort will be taken into consideration when grading the final product.
